New River Offers “Basic Board Development for Nonprofits” Workshop

[Beckley, WV] People serve on nonprofit boards for many different reasons and with many good intentions. Join Vivian Conly at the Beckley Campus of New River Community and Technical College on Wednesday, July 22, for “Basic Board Development for Nonprofits,” a workshop designed to help participants learn how to identify their organization’s needs so that they can take full advantage of volunteers to build a board that really works.

The workshop will help participants learn how to make serving on a board meaningful, effective and efficient; strengthen their organization; and develop leadership for the future. The session will address the role of the board and the vital importance of identifying responsibilities, clarifying specific duties, determining a reasonable strategic plan and developing means of accountability so that all members of the board understand how each individual’s efforts impact the group’s efforts and effectiveness.

Conly was executive director of Carnegie Hall, Inc., from 1989-2000. She has served on several boards of directors and is currently president of the Carnegie Hall Foundation Board of Directors.

This is a workshop designed for board members and executive directors of nonprofits. It will be held from 1-5 p.m. Deadline for registration is July 15. Cost for the session is $75. For more information or to register, please call New River Community and Technical College at (304) 929-6734.
