Three Join New River Community and Technical College

[BECKLEY, WV] Three new employees have recently joined the staff of New River Community and Technical College at the Beckley and Beaver locations.

Jason Garris has been hired as a Database Technician in the Information Technology Department. A resident of Crab Orchard, he received his associate’s degree in Computer Science from New River in 2007 and is currently completing a bachelor’s degree in Computer Science from Bluefield State College. He has been a part-time information technology specialist at New River for the past three years.

Janie Smith of Mount Hope has been named administrative secretary for the Beckley Campus. She graduated from Oak Hill High School and attended Appalachian Bible College. She has enrolled at New River for the spring semester. Prior to joining New River as an extra help employee earlier this year, she was a human resources assistant at Mountain State University. She has also worked as administrative assistant to the vice president for student services and divisional staff at Appalachian Bible College.

Amanda Sue Kincaid is the new office assistant for New River’s Title III Grant project headquartered at the Public Higher Education Center in Beaver. A $2 million federal Title III grant is funding expansion of distance and online learning capabilities at the college. A resident of Bradley, Kincaid earned her bachelor’s degree in Business Administration from Concord University and is completing her MBA in Human Resources at Liberty University. Prior to joining New River, she was a new accounts representative at the Bank of Mount Hope.
