SIGN UP NOW FOR PREREQUISITE COURSES FOR NEW RIVER COMMUNITY AND TECHNICAL COLLEGE LPN PROGRAM

[BECKLEY, WV] Anyone planning to enroll in the New River Community and Technical College’s Licensed Practical Nursing program is urged to contact the New River Campus nearest them to begin enrollment procedures and determine the prerequisite classes they must take prior to enrollment in the LPN program as a full-time student. The LPN program is offered in Summersville and Marlinton.

“The LPN program is an intensive program which begins in early May and runs full schedule for 12 months or more,” explains Roger Griffith, dean of the New River Greenbrier Valley Campus. Prospective students need to take the required prerequisite classes the semester before they plan to start the LPN program in May, which for the next cycle means the semester that begins Jan. 20.”
Students who meet the requirements of the LPN degree receive an associate degree in Licensed Practical Nursing. At New River, LPN students have the opportunity to “piggyback” that degree with another one which will add to their employable skills.

“Besides offering LPN classes in Marlinton and Summersville, we offer medical assisting and related medical classes on all campuses of New River,” Griffith added.
